Social and healthcare organizations have an increasing responsibility in reducing inequalities and enhancing inclusion, diversity and equity in care and in society. Many of the challenges healthcare professionals face towards enhancing inclusion are common across European societies.

Join us for an immersive interdisciplinary week-long course at Victor Babeș University of Medicine and Pharmacy, Timisoara, on "Inclusion" where you'll broaden your perspectives and internationalize your way of seeing your profession! We want you to cross country borders in your thinking and become a critical and reflective European healthcare practitioner. In this course, you'll explore the impact of the cultural context on your professional practice and gain insight into globalization and its influences on society and the workplace.

Through a blend of lectures, case studies, presentations, visits and interdisciplinary based problem solving, you will gain knowledge and skills needed to develop intercultural competence and understand yourself and others better. Don't miss this opportunity to elevate your professional practice towards making a meaningful impact!
